College of Communications

Kelly Leiter, Acting Dean
Paul G. Ashdown, Assistant Dean for Undergraduate Studies
Herbert H. Howard, Assistant Dean for Graduate Studies and Research
Gail Palmer, Advisor

Communication has become increasingly significant in today's complex society. The growth of specialization, the widening gaps among segments of society and the inescapable nature of world conflict point up the need for a greater understanding of communication processes and for the education of young men and women capable of perceptive understanding of the communications media.

The College of Communications offers programs designed to acquaint students with the nature of communication and to prepare them for professional work in a variety of communications fields. The college is composed of the School of Journalism and the Departments of Advertising and Broadcasting. The curricula of these three academic divisions have a common base of courses. Once they have completed the core, students may pursue special interests.

The Accrediting Council on Education in Journalism and Mass Communications has accredited the advertising, news-editorial, public relations and master's programs. The college is a member of the Association of Schools of Journalism and Mass Communication and the Broadcast Education Association.

Association and Progression Requirements

Association with the College of Communications may take place when students first enter UTK, or after students have completed freshman and sophomore courses, and the core courses for a specific major. At least 45 quarter hours in residence in the college is required for a degree. Those interested in Communications should obtain a copy of the Program Planning Guidebook available from the College of Communications Advising Center.

Freshmen associated with the College of Communications are classified as pre-majors. They apply to a major degree program after they pass the College Association Test (typing, spelling and grammar) and complete, with at least a 2.0 cumulative average, the following courses or appropriate honors courses:

- English 1010; 1020; 1032 (with a minimum grade of C in each course)
- 12 hours of natural science
- History 1510-20
- Communications 1110
- 8 or 9 hours of foreign language
- Sociology 1510

A final decision may be deferred until students complete the core courses in their intended major with a minimum grade of B in one core course and no grade below C in other core courses. Students granted early admission must also meet these standards. Students must pass the College Association Test (typing, spelling and grammar) before enrolling in or preregistering for Journalism 2215 Basic News Writing. Students may not enroll in courses numbered above 3000 in the college until they have successfully completed the core courses. The core courses by major are:

- Advertising — Communications 1110, Journalism 2215, Advertising 3000
- Broadcasting — Journalism 2215, Advertising 3000, Broadcasting 2750
- Journalism — Journalism 2215, Journalism 2220, Journalism 2230

Communications students must earn at least a C grade in all College of Communications courses that fulfill graduation and progression requirements.

Students from other UTK colleges may apply for association with the College of Communications after they have completed all the pre-major requirements including the association tests and core courses and have attained at least a 2.0 average in all work attempted.

Curriculum

The college curriculum offers academic majors in advertising, broadcasting, journalism, and public relations. Through core introductory courses, students receive a basic view of the nature of communications.

The freedom of electives provided within the programs permits students to develop specialized interests in a variety of fields. In consultation with an advisor, they may plan individual programs leading to newspaper, magazine, radio, television, public relations, or advertising careers. They may prepare for careers in agricultural or industrial journalism. They may select related courses to develop a specialty in writing news of science, government, and business. Others may elect courses to prepare themselves as writers on foods, fashions, and home interests.

Students in other divisions of the University may take, with the permission of the instructor and the college advisor, certain courses for training in effective communication or for an understanding of the social role of the mass media. Such students should bring a transcript to the college advising center and should obtain approval in advance for a program of instruction.

Students who have completed the basic courses in the college may earn practicum credit for professional work in the field. Approval of the advisor and the department head must be obtained before such work is begun.

Satisfactory/No Credit Option

The purpose of this option is to encourage students to venture beyond those courses in which they usually do well and, motivated by their own intellectual curiosity, to explore subject matter in which performance may be somewhat less outstanding than work in preferred subject fields.

This option applies only to general elective courses. No course that is a part of the specific requirements of the College of Communications or the student's major department can be taken under this option. For example, social science, humanities and speech electives required by the various departments cannot be taken under this option.
Courses earning a "satisfactory" grade will count as hours for graduation but not for calculating the grade point average. A student who wishes to take a S/NC course must indicate this at the time of registration. Under no circumstances may a student change from regular credit to S/NC after the deadline for change from S/NC to regular credit or from regular credit to S/NC after the deadline for adding courses.

Course Load
The maximum number of hours an undergraduate can take without special permission is 12 hours per quarter. Permission to take 18 or more hours must be obtained from the assistant dean for undergraduate studies or the undergraduate advisor with the recommendation of the student's advisor and department chairman or school director.

Cooperative Program
The college, in cooperation with the University-wide Undergraduate Cooperative Education Program, has developed a limited cooperative program with the media, advertising and public relations agencies and the communications departments of business organizations where interested students may combine their education with a productive work experience. At present, only a limited number of such opportunities are available. Although other arrangements can be made, a student will enter the program only after completing one or two quarters at the University. A student will alternate with another student, with one working full-time for the employer for one quarter while the other person is in school. The typical program is arranged for a five-year period, with the student spending the final three quarters of the senior year on campus.

The Cooperative Program gives a student an opportunity to gain practical experience. It also helps to develop a sense of responsibility and cooperation, creates greater interest and incentive in academic studies and provides part of the student's expenses. It also leads to permanent employment after graduation. Interested students should contact the Dean's office during their first quarter on campus.

The Edward J. Meeman Distinguished Professorship
As a result of a $200,000 grant to the School of Journalism in 1970 by the Edward J. Meeman Foundation, outstanding journalists and journalism educators are brought to the campus as distinguished professors. The professorship is named for the late Edward J. Meeman, publisher of The Memphis Press-Scimitar and founding editor of The Knoxville News, which later became the News-Sentinel.

Kelly Leiter, former columnlist, feature writer and assistant city editor of The Memphis Press-Scimitar and founding editor of The Knoxville News, which later became the News-Sentinel.

Equipment and Facilities
The Communications and Extension Building provides extensive facilities for communications instruction. The college has laboratories with special equipment for instruction in writing, editing, photography, advertising and broadcasting. In addition, advanced students gain experience through summer internships or through the University's general program of publishing and broadcasting. The Office of Public Relations, campus publications such as the Daily Beacon, and the college radio station WUTK provide practice for communications majors. The Tennessee Press Association and Tennessee High School Press Association, with headquarters at the University, present opportunities for special work and study.

Requirements for Graduation
The Bachelor of Science in Communications is awarded to majors who complete a program of 194 hours prescribed under departmental requirements listed below. At least 140 of these hours must be taken in courses other than the major and related communications fields. At least 27 of the hours in the major must be taken at The University of Tennessee, Knoxville. Normally, no more than 22 transfer credits in the major will be applied to the 194 hours.
